WAR DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The inclosed personal documents have been held by military censorship, due to lack of facilities in overseas theaters for their examination, to determine the extent of their content of important military information.

Passage of time has rendered harmless, from a military standpoint, much information which might otherwise have been harmful to our forces had it become known to the enemy. The release of these documents, however, does not constitute authority for the publication of any material taken from them.

These documents are released to your custody with the hope and expectation that you, as a patriotic American, will safeguard them as the personal property of the soldier, to be held from any public release until after cessation of all hostilities.
